

SRI Opens Woodland, California, Office

January 4, 2006

SRI opened its northern California branch office in Woodland, located in the greater Sacramento area, on January 4, 2006. This branch office enables SRI to provide cultural resource management services to established and new clients in northern California, central California, and western Nevada. Mr. Michael Lerch, RPA and principal investigator, is office director, and Dr. Seetha Reddy, RPA, is operations manager and principal investigator (particularly for paleoethnobotanical projects). The office offers SRI's complete range of archaeological and historical resources consulting services. We look forward to serving our clients' needs in our new location.
